This Week's Newsletter 11.1.19

This Week: Welcome back!!

In English The children have been learning all about reptiles - they have been describing Sea Turtles, answering comprehension questions about snakes and turtles and have completed their first Big Write - writing about their favourite reptile!

In Maths The children have been measuring using standard (cm) and non-standard units (blocks etc.) - they have ordered snakes from shortest to longest and ordered themselves in height order....

In Topic we have been learning all about the life cycle of the frog, have made collage sea turtles, created a digital picture of their favourite reptile and made a start on some lovely reptile paintings.

Next week:

Literacy - The children will clap out the syllables of different types of reptiles - and also using alliteration to describe our reptiles.

In Maths - we will be programming a beebot to move in given directions!

In Topic - the children will practice new song 'Gonna take you there' and continuing their reptile paintings....

We will be reallocating reading days so can ALL reading bags/books be brought in on Monday the 14th - thank you!

Information: Homework - Measuring! Welcome back after our lovely Christmas break - what a week! As you know, the front of the school was badly affected by flooding over the Christmas holidays which has meant that we have been relocated over to the Year 2 classroom - the children have settled really well and are enjoying exploring their new area...but we will continue to dismiss via the Reception class at 3pm. As the hall will be out of action for the next few weeks, we will endeavor to have our PE sessions outside - so, if possible could the children include some warm weather kit and trainers (school shoes will
